REDISCOVER AMERICA'S OLDEST OPERATING RAILROAD AT STRASBURG
RAIL ROAD
in the Heart of PA Amish Country

Strasburg, Pennsylvania - a Rockwell-esque small town in the middle of bucolic Pennsylvania Dutch Country - is home to the oldest continuously operating railroad in North America. Chartered in 1832, the Strasburg Rail Road began serving the community of Strasburg in antebellum America when wagons and canals were still commonplace.

Our Mission:

The Strasburg Rail Road strives to provide a Guest Experience that is the best example of early 20th-century steam railroading for our Guests by creating an interactive, immersive, and engaging experience in a safe, clean, joyful, an historic environment.
